

Theater and Performing Arts Facilities

Cicely Tyson School of Performing and Fine Arts : East Orange, New Jersey

New 780-seat auditorium/theater for a new community high school. The school's major function is to promote the fine arts within its student body.

Drew University - Dorothy Young Center for the Performing Arts : Madison, New Jersey

25,000 square foot addition consisting of a 450 seat auditorium for music performances

Drew University - Shakespeare Festival Theater : Madison, New Jersey

Addition and major renovation to existing facility to convert into a first class performing arts facility. The existing walls and roof structure were the only items reused in the final configuration of the structure.

New Jersey State Theater : New Brunswick, New Jersey

Renovation and restoration work to the existing facility. Hanging details supports for various theater type equipment and new marked signage at entry.

Pennington School Campus Center : Pennington, New Jersey

A new facility for the Pennington Campus, including a "black box" theater for the performing arts students and various support areas.

Pingry School - Performing Arts Addition : Martinsville, New Jersey

Major addition including a new theater and support spaces for theater and musical productions for this private school

Two Rivers Theater : Red Bank, New Jersey

New 300 seat first class theater to house Broadway productions, various plays and concerts.

Westport Theater : Westport, Connecticut

A mostly new first class theater facility build around and encompassing some of the older historic fabric of the existing facility. A private facility, seating 300 people and able to host major Broadway and classical productions.